Stand Fast Scotland

The same crew of dodgy pseudo-nationalists that perverted Irish nationalism with their multi-racial, multi-cultural, Marxist poison are pushing, and being encouraged by dark forces , in pursuit of their anti-British agenda in Scotland.

Scotland in the Union. Yes. No special privileges and no repeat referendums if this one is close until the EU get their desired result.

The same as it has always been in our lifetimes.

The spectre of 'Regionalisation' for England is also being talked up again. This obviously anti-English weakening strategy was massively rejected in the only referendum held, which was in the North-east of England in 2004, by 78% of those who voted.

Who is insisting on these changes and why?

Above all to what good?

The Enemy Within

By Hereward More

The African tribesmen who murdered Drummer Rigby, in May of last year, have been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment - the facts of the matter are not in contention, what is in question is the interpretation of those facts. The mass media have told you that two peaceful and happy young Christians were ensnared by Islamists, and then they became angry and violent extremists determined to convert our country to their religion by force. This is a caricature, a fiction; the truth is quite otherwise.

Our civilisation has two classes of enemy - the Judaic and the barbaric - and they must be opposed by methods appropriate to their nature. When a barbarian encounters civilisation there is an immediate and instinctive reaction towards it. In a small proportion of cases the barbarian is entranced and gripped by a desperate longing to join us as he recognises the goodness of our civilisation and the greatness of its achievements; more often, however, the barbarian experiences a visceral hatred and an urge to destroy what he cannot understand or hope to emulate. Thus the two tribesmen, driven wild by life in a society as alien to them as they are to us, felt an atavistic longing to vent their fury against our country and our race, just as their spear-wielding forbears had fought against missionaries and colonists in their own homeland. So they joined the Moslems because the Moslems are fighting against us, and could provide a narrative to lend meaning to the entirely senseless act they intended to perpetrate. The killing of Drummer Rigby was not an act of Islamist terror, but one of the dark deeds for which the Dark Continent is notorious. Armed with a gun and a cleaver they did not shoot their victim, nor behead him as an Arab might have done; they hacked him about and painted their bodies with his blood in a scene familiar across Africa down the ages. It might have been King Umzila's kraal in the nineteenth century. Barbarians of that kind may be nominally Christian, Moslem or atheist, but their only real faith is in witchcraft, sangoma, obeah medicine men and juju of every kind. (I might add, incidentally, a reminder that witchcraft killings within the African community itself take place here in Britain.) What brought this repellant enactment of some tribal rite to the capital city of our country, and how can we prevent such events taking place here? Candour has already given the answer, and done so very often: it is to remove the barbarian from our midst and to deposit him back outside the gates of civilisation where he belongs. Citizenship and the right of residence belong by birth only to those who can trace a legitimate pedigree in our country; this moral truth must be the

THE OUT OF CONTROL ZIONIST MURDER-MACHINE

GAZA DEATH TOLL 1,000+ AND RISING

Most people have no idea how small the Gaza Strip is. At just 25 miles long and 6 miles across at its broadest part (a total of 146 square miles) with a population of some 1.5 million Palestinians Gaza is one of the most densely populated places on earth. For the US Government backed Jews using the latest in hi-tech weaponry this really is like 'shooting fish in a barrel'. It is, of course, made even easier for the Jews because they do not regard non-Jews as human beings but rather as cattle, 'goyim'.

Add to this eight years of crippling sanctions which have left at least 80% of the population of Gaza dependent on food aid and the hospitals without basic medical supplies. Also remember that there is no escape from Gaza with the US Government backed Egyptians controlling the only, above ground, entry/exit point .

As ever the only fig-leaf for their devilish cruelty is the Hoax of the Twentieth Century. The ®Holocaust.

If you are one of those who believes that challenging the 6 million myth damages our cause please think again....

"To allow a plea for a religious revival to turn into a political controversy would be an error of taste. Let it be clear that present leadership is chiefly to be condemned not because it is Socialist but because it is inept. The crying need of the nation at the moment is for men strong enough in mind and character - no matter what are their political convictions - to kindle again to a burning fire the enormous resources of courage, energy and self-sacrifice which lie dormant in the people of Britain. Conservatives would prefer such men to come from their own party; if the rare qualities which are desired were apparent even in a political opponent they would welcome them. What appalls patriots of every shade of political opinion is the total absence of inspiration, or ability to inspire, in any of those who direct the nation's affairs. If Britain sinks irrevocably into the grave, it will not be the fault of her people but of her leaders. The spirit is ready to be evoked, but there is no one with the spell to evoke it. This is not a conclusion to promote despair. The British are a great nation only needing someone to lead them. It is not a hopeless quest, far less hopeless than that of the leader who seeks greatness in a nation that lacks it. Britain has emerged at last from a winter whose rigours have been seldom surpassed. She has it in her to emerge no less safely from the winter of economic and political troubles which beset her. Easter is the great festival of the Resurrection. From its example one may derive hope of a lesser resurrection - that of the country which we love."

basis for legislation, if others are to live here too that must be the result of a personal decision made by a minister answerable to Parliament for that decision. That does mean that we will have to accept a certain number of coloureds, and Anglo-Indians and the like alongside purely British colonials, however, most such people are the results of bastardy, so they lack a pedigree, and others may be deterred from settling here by a refusal to admit their foreign spouses. In any case, even a large touch of the tarbrush will wash out in a few generations once the supply of alien and barbaric elements has been cut off at source.

As I said, the tribesmen turned to Islam because the Moslems are fighting us, and why are the Moslems fighting us? The reason is quite clear; and, again, Candour has said it often enough. They are fighting us because, whatever wars happen to be in progress at any particular time, successive Government's of every kind have consistently supported their enemies who also happen to be our own true enemy. Whilst Islamists might like every country to turn Moslem, as I would wish the world to convert to Catholicism, and orange-clad gentlemen want to see Krishna's praises sung across the globe, they do not expect it to happen as a result of their efforts and certainly not by force; they might hope for a miracle of conversion, but the actual objectives of their campaigns are simple and realistic. On the domestic front they want Islamic law for Islamic peoples in Islamic countries and that is nobody's business but their own.

As far as other countries are concerned what they want is for our governments to repudiate the Zionist so called 'state' and recognise a united Palestine governed by those with genuine title to the land, and to stop supporting collaborationist puppet regimes committed to an internationalist world order with Zionism at its heart.

From this it follows that to fight against the Moslems is to fight for the Jews, thus anti-Islamic groups invariably end up hand in glove with Hebrew. Whatever their starting position might have been, the logic of 'my enemy's enemy is my friend' drives them inexorably into adopting the Zionist party line to keep in with their new friends, hence the farce of supposedly patriotic and 'nationalist' groups proclaiming that not only can a Jew be a Briton, but can even be a British-Israeli dual citizen without compromising his patriotic identity.

Where does that same logic lead us?

It should not, in fact, lead us anywhere as it is deeply flawed. Whilst it is clear that when 'our' Government sends us to war against those who, in all the circumstances should be our allies they are not really our Government at all, but the agents of the enemy in our midst, that does not mean that we embrace the Islamist cause, far from it, we judge each case as it arises, we pick our battles carefully, and we remember always that our island home is "a fortress built by nature for herself against infection and the hand of war" and that our 'silver sea' is our moat and our wall against unnecessary foreign entanglements. The barbarian within the gates, the tool of those on whom 'our' government has us make war, is a long way from being the only enemy within: our Judaic enemies extend far beyond the Jews themselves, and encompass all those committed to Jewish political, philosophical, social or psychological theories.

If, unlike the alien elements in our midst, these people* cannot be expelled, they can and must be debarred from ever again holding positions of power or authority.

Exposure of Paedo-Politicians

Is it all too Good to be True?

Recently in the UK we have seen a few ageing celebrities such as Stuart Hall and Rolf Harris jailed for 'historic' sex offences. The floodgates opened after the death of 'Sir' Jimmy Savile, in October 2011, who for overseas readers was a revolting freak who you should search google or youtube for because I don't have the time, space or stomach to go into details in Candour.

Sufficient to say that he was known to be a 'wrong 'un' in every playground in the country but apparently NOT by any of his BBC bosses, political or royal friends and certainly not by his many friends in the police. He actually had all of the keys to Broadmoor, the most secure mental hospital/prison in the UK as well as numerous childrens homes and hospitals.

There are so many 'Establishment' figures involved here that it could be thought, in a way, that all of our birthdays had arrived together. However, the smoke screens, secret legal gagging orders, police bullying, misinformation on a massive scale and outright fear of death (murders have already been committed believe me) are, to put it mildly muddying the waters.

Here I will try and keep it simple by looking at a couple of 'names in the frame' and you do not need to be a Sherlock Holmes or Ellery Queen to see some connections.

Let us say that things seemed to be looking up when the news broke, June 23rd, that the offices in the House of Lords of Greville Janner, aka, Lord Janner of Braunstone, appointed a QC in 1971. A Labour MP in Leicester from 1970 to 1997. Former President of the Board of Deputies of British Jews. Founder of the Holocaust Educational Trust. An all-round true pillar of Anglo-Jewry, etc, etc, had been 'raided' by up to eight police officers from Leicestershire Police in March of this year. I say 'raided' because to take the highly unusual step of searching a members office police first have to go through a lengthy process which involves getting a search warrant sanctioned by a judge before alerting the Clerk of the Parliaments and Black Rod, a senior officer in the Lords responsible for security. So, not exactly a lightning dawn raid then.

This in turn came after police spent several days searching the 86-year-old politician's home in Golders Green, North - west London in December 2013.

Quiet for a while and then, without naming names for, of course legal reasons, exactly a month later came the news that "A Labour Peer accused of historic child abuse may not face further questioning due to his rapidly failing health". It would seem that the 86-year-old peer in question has now developed 1st stage Alzheimer's disease. (Remember his co-religionist Gerald Saunders, found guilty of the Guinness share-trading case back in 1990 whose five year sentence for fraud was halved after medical evidence was produced to suggest he was suffering from a mental illness. Saunders was suggested by doctors at Ford Open Prison possibly to be suffering from premature Alzheimer's disease, a common form of dementia; if this was a correct diagnosis, he made a recovery unique in medical history). Alzheimer's, like all dementias, is usually incurable).

Above. 'Lord' Brittan of Spennithorne, QC. Former Conservative MP and Home Secretary under Thatcher. Later an EU Commissioner.

In 1983, Conservative MP Geoffrey Dickens (died 1995) personally handed the then Home Secretary, Leon Brittan, a file naming at least eight paedophile politicians. It is now one of at least 114 Home Office files relating to paedophilia that is either lost, destroyed or missing. Brittan's name is also now being raised in connection with child abuse allegations relating to the Elm House scandal and he was recently interviewed by police about a 'historic' rape allegation back in the 1960's.

This is but the tip of the iceberg and for updates it is best to keep abreast of developments on the internet. Be careful. A lot of smokescreens and false trails are being laid.

Send all reports to Candour. We are also building a special file on 'grooming' offences in the North-east of England with a view to a very special issue of Candour.

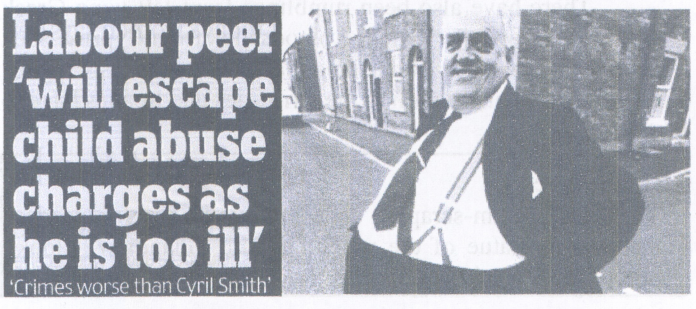
The unlamented gross pervert and Liberal Democrat 'Sir' Cyril Smith. MP. (Below right).
(Note that titles and baubles and even huge amounts in legal damages have been awarded after years of rumours, to many notorious rapists and molestors of children and vulnerable young adults. There are now also allegations of murders.



A very interesting theory is doing the rounds and I think it sound. It is this: With the de-criminalisation of homosexuality in most of the UK in 1967 a new form of more extreme blackmail was needed to keep the politicians of ALL parties in line.
Politicians are chosen and promoted precisely because they are perverts or seen as pervertable and they can then be easily blackmailed and controlled by those who really run the show. C.T.

Fragments of Empire

By Rob Black

Part 3

Akrotiri and Dhekelia

Akrotiri and Dhekelia are two British sovereign bases in the Island of Cyprus in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Cyprus had become a British protectorate under the Ottoman Empire in 1878 and was annexed to Britain during World War One. The island's population was 75% Greek and 25% Turkish, and the Greek majority was determined upon Enosis - unification with Greece.

For a time the Greek population accepted their place in the British Empire, but over time became discontented, and by the 1930's riots and demonstrations were breaking out. World War Two delayed serious trouble for a few years and over 30,000 Cypriots joined the British Armed Forces.

Following the war, attempts were made to give the Cypriots constitutional government without leading to Enosis, but in 1948 King Paul of Greece declared that Cyprus desired union with Greece. The Orthodox Church of Cyprus organised a referendum which showed that 97% of Greek Cypriots wanted this union. The referendum was upheld by the United Nations, and international pressure was put on Britain to accede.

Archbishop Makarios emerged as the leader of the Greek Cypriot Enosis movement, and long time readers of Candour will remember the campaigns organised by the League of Empire Loyalists against his diplomatic visits to London during the 1950's.

Problems escalated when the British pulled out of Egypt and Cyprus became the new location for our Middle East Headquarters. A terrorist campaign began, and the "Cyprus Emergency" began. This campaign was waged with the usual cowardly methods of the terrorist, and 371 British servicemen were to lose their lives.

'Archterrorist' Makarios, as he was dubbed by Candour, was deeply implicated in the terrorist campaign, and was exiled. The British forces were able to suppress the independence movement. The terrorist EOKA movement agreed to cease hostilities on the Archbishop's return.

The Turkish Cypriots had been rather forgotten up to this point. They of course did not want union with Greece - their ancient foe - and began to call for partition of the island.

Following the Suez debacle in 1956 the British came to the conclusion that bases in Cyprus would be just as acceptable as owning the whole island. This made it possible to pass the problem on to the Greek and Turkish governments as well as the local Cypriot authorities.

Amid a resumption of the EOKA terrorist campaign and the beginnings of serious clashes between the Greek and Turkish islanders, the London and Zurich Agreements were signed in February 1959 between Greece, Turkey, Britain and the leaders of the Greek and Turkish Cypriots. The treaty also called into being two British sovereign bases on the island.

On 16th of August 1960, Cyprus gained its independence from the British Empire. This was to have been a compromise state between the two races, but it had little chance of success. Widespread fighting broke out on 1963 and the Turkish Cypriots were excluded from government. United Nations peacekeepers were deployed in 1964 to restore law and order, and to protect the Turkish Cypriots who were now confined to small enclaves making up only 3% of the island.

The stupidity of the Greek Cypriots played into the hands of Turkey, which not unreasonably, wished to ensure the protection of their kin on Cyprus. By 1974 the Turkish government had had enough. Their forces invaded the island, and by August 1974 had seized 40% of Cyprus. The Greek Cypriot population fled the Turkish controlled areas while the Turkish Cypriots moved out of the Greek areas.

Partition, not Enosis had been achieved. In the years that followed Turkey allowed 40,000 Turkish settlers from the mainland to move to Cyprus, and declared the formation of a new state (the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus) Bizarrely this state is still only recognized by Turkey, with the rest of the international community still recognizing the failed 1963 Republic of Cyprus. Be that as it may, the Turkish state exists, and controls 40% of Cyprus. It is inconceivable that Turkey or the Turkish Cypriots would wish to return to the 1963 situation.

To this day, a United Nations buffer zone separates Greek from Turkish Cypriots.

That is enough about the history of Cyprus. Let us return to the subject of this essay.

As we have seen, the 1960 agreements brought into being two British Sovereign Territories in Cyprus - Akrotiri and Dhekelia. The areas were chosen to avoid centres of population.

These are now British Overseas Territories but are very different from most of the other BOT's in that they cannot be developed for any other than military purposes, are not colonies, have no custom posts between them and Cyprus, have no civilian or industrial uses, and cannot be used to settle civilians. The only other BOT run along these lines is the British Indian Ocean Territory, another military base.

The two areas consist of almost 100 square miles which is about 3% of the island of Cyprus, and of this 60% is privately owned by Greek Cypriot natives.

The territories have a population of approximately 15,000 people. Half of these are made up by the military garrison, its staff and their families, with the remainder being Greek Cypriots. There is no provision in the British Nationality Acts by which British citizenship (with the right of abode in the United Kingdom) can either be claimed through automatic entitlement or be applied for by means of registration, from or through a sole personal connection to the Base Areas due to the provisions of the 1960 treaty.

The territory is administered by an Administrator, who is also the Commander of British Forces Cyprus. He has all the executive and legislative authority of a Governor of an overseas territory.

The raison d'être of the territories is as we have seen military. Cyprus is regarded as a vital location for intelligence gathering and monitoring of the Middle East. RAF Akrotiri is a vital staging post and has been regularly used by our allies. There are currently approximately 3,500 British servicemen stationed there.

If Britain is to retain any world influence, it would seem inconceivable that we would surrender the bases to Cyprus. There were rumours under the last Labour Government in 2010 that the Ministry of Defence was drawing up plans to withdraw from Cyprus but nothing came of this.

There have also been rumblings from left wing Greek Cypriots to remove the "colonial bloodstain" from Cyprus. Such people do not appear to understand that their predecessor signed a treaty with Britain regarding the territories and treaties have to be abided by.

No Land for Whites In "Zimbabwe"

newobserveronline.com

Whites will never be allowed to own land in Zimbabwe, that country's president Robert Mugabe has announced, adding that the few remaining white farmers still there "must go."

Mugabe's latest racist anti-white outburst has of course been met with complete silence by the liberals in the west, who always lose no opportunity to crow about so-called "white racism" at every opportunity.

Speaking at the launch of Zimbabwe's "A1 settlement permit" scheme, which supposedly ensures that farmers have security of tenure, Mugabe said that "Zimbabwe was no country for whites as far as land was concerned."

The A1 permits allow new farmers to access agricultural funding from financial institutions - but of course, whites are excluded.

A Zimbabwe Mail report quoted Mugabe as saying whites in Zimbabwe could only be allowed to own companies, industries and apartments.

According to other local news "Mugabe's latest pronouncements are likely to send jitters across the agricultural sector and concern the remaining white commercial farmers, some of whom have argued that they never benefitted from colonialism."

Mugabe and his Zanu - PF party launched the land reforms in 2000, taking over white-owned farms to resettle landless blacks.

At the time, Mugabe said the reforms were meant to correct colonial land ownership imbalances.

The land seizures were often violent, claiming the lives of several white farmers during clashes with criminal mobs, some of whom pretended to be "veterans" from the Rhodesian bush war, but who in reality were far too young to have partaken in the 1972–1979 conflict.

The seized farms were almost instantly turned into trash heaps and food production collapsed, forcing the formerly prosperous and food-exporting white-ruled state into beggar nation status, relying completely on foreign aid just to feed itself.

At least 2.2 million Zimbabweans depend on foreign food aid just to survive, and, according to a recent report, it has "been like this for more than a decade.

"Before the turn of the century, Zimbabwe, with its fertile farmland, was the breadbasket of southern Africa, exporting wheat and corn to the rest of the continent and beyond. But the agriculture secondly nose-dived in the early 2000's, a development which critics attribute to President Robert Mugabe's land reform program which targeted white farmers.

"Zimbabwe is still a net importer of food. With unemployment hovering at around 80 percent, many people can't afford to buy food."

"I Don't Like White Men, I Want Them to be a Lost Species."

Yasmin Alibhai-Brown

American Renaissance

www.amren.com

Controversial columnist Yasmin Alibhai-Brown (a Muslim born in Uganda) is accused of making a series of racist remarks against white people, even going as far as to say she wants them to be a "lost species". According to Rod Liddle, when asked in a TV interview what she thought of white people, she responded: "I don't like them. I want them to be a lost species in a hundred years." Yasmin Alibhai-Brown

Writing for The Sun this weekend, (24/6/14) Liddle said: "Can you imagine what would happen if you or I said that about black men, or women? The police would get involved, pronto."

He was writing after taking part in a heated debate against Alibhai-Brown on Channel 4 News last week, in which the columnist said she "loathed" Liddle.

Liddle writes that he attracted her ire, and that of presenter Cathy Newman, because of the subject matter of his new book Selfish, Whining Monkeys.

". . . in the book I suggest that the massive influx of immigrants we've seen in the past ten years has made life worse for the lowest paid in society. And rather better for the well-orf."

The debate sparked further controversy after Conservative MP Michael Fabricant, who had been watching on TV, tweeted that he would want to "punch" Alibhai-Brown "in the throat" if he debated against her.

The MP apologised after causing a storm of anger on Twitter.

(Apologised for what? Ed.)

Liddle also mentions another example of Alibhai-Brown's hatred for the white working class. In a newspaper article in 2009, Alibhai-Brown used the words "stupid", "vicious" and "scum" to describe white working-class people.

She has previously called for the media to be "controlled" to prevent the rise of UKIP, and in a televised conversation on jobs in 2008 she said: "Don't apply. It would be great if you went away. White, middle class men. We'd just walk in, wouldn't we?"

Challenged by the host of the show Richard Bacon, who asked, "Is that not a racist comment?" she replied, "Of course."

Doubly Thankful Villages

There are some 16,000 villages across England and Wales. After extensive research it seems only 51, following the 1914-18 war, saw all of their men return. Of these only 13 were also spared any losses in the Second World War. (This number may increase as more communities without war memorials are coming forward with interest piqued by the centenary).

Letter to the Editor (Extracts)
From a former-Colonial Policeman

Dear Old Colin,

I sent a copy of the Mau Mau Oaths booklet to my local MP, Nick Gibbs, plus two extra copies which I requested he give to the Prime Minister and to Mr. William Hague MP, Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs. I received back the usual smoothy letter and they told me they had passed my long letter and copy of the Oaths to the Minister of State at the Foreign and Commonwealth Office who also sent me the usual smoothy letter saying we all did naughty things, etc. I am waiting for a while then hitting him with a second letter.

There is a magazine for the Overseas Service Pensioners Association, it is very good and they are really going for the gutless British Government.

It also appears that a memorial is being built in Nairobi in memory of the "victims of torture and ill-treatment." The Overseas Association is very concerned about the nature of the monument as it would appear it is to be in memory of the suffering of the Mau Mau terrorists and NOT their victims. The British Govt. wants it to be in memory of ALL who suffered during the emergency and incidentally the British Government is donating £90,000 towards the cost of the monument.

The British Govt. negotiations in Kenya are with the Kenya Human Rights Commission and the Mau Mau Veterans Association.... Bloody marvelous....

Re; the Mau Mau Compo Case. Legal costs so far have reached £19.9 millions.... and we are paying 5,000 claimants...

Things should become more clear in October. I will keep you informed.

I enclose a cheque for £10.00. Could you please send me 20 more copies of the vile oath. I am going to target UKIP people in the constituency of the Minister for African Affairs before the next General Election in 2015.

Sussex.

P.S. I recall you mentioned in latest Candour about the delightful British Resistance badges. I read about them in 1980 when I was trying to find some organisation that was against the then Common Market. I received some literature from The Resistance and it was through them that I first found out about Candour and came to meet Rosine.

I enclose for your files some of the British Resistance literature that I have kept and my badge went to Australia.

SONGS OF EMPIRE

"And the load of their loveless pity is worse than the ancient wrongs.
Their doors are shut in the evening and they know no songs."

The Secret People.* G.K. Chesterton.

Back in the January, 2012 issue of Candour I printed the first of what was intended to be a series of our national songs. I did not forget the idea but between the webmaster and myself we decided to enlarge the project and rediscover and publicise the songs of the British Empire so many of which have been largely forgotten and neglected.
Available on our Candour Magazine You Tube Channel which can also be accessed via the Links page of our website at www.candour.org.uk thus far are;

1. "Boys of the Southern Cross"
   New Zealand from time of the Boer Wars.

2. "The Maple Leaf Forever"
   Written by Alexander Muir (1830-1906) in 1867) the year of Canada's Confederation.

3. "Heart of Oak"
   From 1760. The official march of the Royal Navy, Royal Canadian Navy and Royal New Zealand Navy.

4. "Sons of the Colonies"
   New Zealand from time of Boer Wars.

Many more titles to be added and we are thinking of the Great War songs in particular with the 100th Anniversary this year. Get involved and send us your suggestions!

A Stained Glass View of the World

Or: How Socialists Openly Boast of their Deviousness

The pen and ink rendering is from a photographic reproduction. Artist, William Discount. From The Great Deceit; Social Pseudo-Sciences. Published by the VERITAS FOUNDATION, West Sayville, New York, 1964.

Socialist pilgrims from all over the world have been fascinated by a stained-glass window in Surrey, England, where a Fabian coat-of-arms brazenly depicts socialism as a political wolf in sheep's clothing. (Enlarged, left.) Commissioned by George Bernard Shaw in 1910; for over 30 years it was privately displayed to the socialist inner-circle, who gloated over successful masquerades as "mild reformers" and "righteous liberals. Arrogantly, the socialist leaders picture themselves as shaping the whole world with hammer blows while relegating their followers to the role of blind worshippers praying before the image of socialist propaganda.

The Fabian Window is now on display at the London School of Economics which was founded by Sydney and Beatrice Webb. The two figures wielding hammers are G. B. Shaw (right) and Sidney Webb. Operating the bellows is E. R. Pease, for many years secretary of the Fabian Society. Thumbing his nose is H. G. Wells, who after quitting the Fabians, denounced them as "the new machiavellians".

The Fabians originally were an elite group of intellectuals who formed a semi-secret society, in 1884, for the purpose of bringing socialism to the world. Whereas Communists wanted to establish socialism quickly through violence and revolution, the Fabians preferred to do it slowly through propaganda and legislation. The word socialism was not to be used. They scorned the Communists, not because they disliked their goals, but because they disagreed with their methods. To emphasize the importance of gradualism, they adopted the turtle as the symbol of their movement. The three most prominent leaders in the early days were Sidney and Beatrice Webb and George Bernard Shaw. Across the top appears the last line from Omar Khayyam:

Dear Love, couldst thou and I with fate conspire
To grasp this sorry scheme of things entire,
Would we not shatter it to bits, and then
Remould it nearer to the hearts desire!

Several New Sources of Photographs Located!

Rob Black is busting a gut to make this a really comprehensive study of the League of Empire Loyalists.

He has recently come upon a source of unused photographs taken by Fleet Street newspaper professionals. They are top quality but to buy the rights to each one he uses in the book is going to be £67.00 a pop!

That is the reality of doing things properly and in a professional manner. This book is going to be the definitive work on the LEL. (With much more in the pipeline).

Most of the literature previously written about US has been alien/enemy/state sponsored. Mummy's little darling's writing their student thesis before his/her gap year in Thailand and the internship at daddy's bank starts.

We are different.

Several of our people have spent a great amount of their own money researching this project. I believe that such dedication deserves our strongest support.

Rob is now considering whether the book should be A5 or A4 size. (The cover is not yet decided. This should not affect the Autumn launch schedule but for the moment we are not taking any more advance orders because his final decision may well make a difference to the cost).

Bear with us and I am sure we will have more news next issue.

(Advance orders received before now will be honoured!)

Roll of Honour

If you agree that the efforts of our researchers deserve your financial support, especially to secure the rights to some stunning full page photo's from newly discovered sources (See above), the book will feature a special Roll of Honour.

Your name (or suitable name of your choice and town/county or state or country will be included for a donation of £25.00 or the overseas equivalent). First two already down,

A. Ryan. England. £25.00. Colin Todd, England £25.00.

Remember the League of Empire Loyalists had branches and supporters worldwide. Help US record OUR history! This will also be featured on our website.

Pay via PayPal at our website: www.candour.org.uk or send cheques/Postal Orders/cash (Sterling, $'s, Euros) to: THE AK CHESTERTON TRUST at;

BM CANDOUR, London, WC1N 3XX, England.

HUGH McNEILE

The late Hugh McNeile, laid the foundation for The History of the League of Empire Loyalists and Candour some 30 years ago and Rob Black acknowledges the debt that he owes him for inspiring his own efforts.

MORE NEWS AND WORKS IN PROGRESS

We have a very long article from our good friend Hereward Wake The Long march to the Great War which should follow the next issue which will be out sooner than usual with a lovely cover of The Prisoner of Peace Rudolf Hess with his loyal to death son Wolf Rudiger. (See over). We can make six or seven issues this year with your backing. The fight is still on!

New booklets in The AK Chesterton Trust Reprint Series coming soon.

No. 9. STAND BY THE EMPIRE: A Warning to the British Nations by AK.

No. 10. Tomorrow: A Plan for the British Future by AK.

Other titles for this series are being considered and we hope to pull some real rarities from the archives.

* * * *

FACING THE ABYSS by AK with a new Introduction by Andrew Brons, written during his last days as a MEP will be ready anytime now. See back page of latest Candour for details of that. (It means that copies of the original printing of Abyss will no longer be sent with the Introduction Pack for new subscribers. That was getting way too expensive to keep sending, especially overseas, given the rise in subscribers over the last 12 months).

* * * *

Friend of the AK Chesterton Trust John Beattie of Canada, host of Dinosaur News, is standing for the non-political position of Deputy Reeve in the Minden Hills Municipal Elections in Ontario on the 27th of October.

The Very Best of British to him.

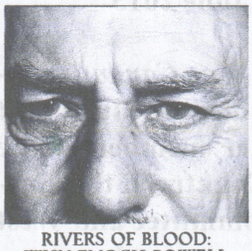
RIVERS OF BLOOD: WHY ENOCH POWELL WAS RIGHT!

www.saxonshieldwall



Using quotations from the Old & New Testaments, the Qur'an, the ABC of Communism and Mein Kampf, the book shows how religious and political radicalism spring from the same source. From radical Muslims and Jews, the far right and left and Christianity. It is why mass immigration and multiculturalism will end in disaster.
